Validation Types

There are two main ways to implement validators, the validator optional key-value pair in the \answer command, and the validator environment. They have surprisingly different properties and capabilities.[1]

Validator Environment

Validator Key-value in the Answer Command.

Learning outcomes:

[1]At least in the current iteration - this will hopefully change in the new system.